

HUMAN CENTRIC

Job description

Join a great team!

Are you passionate about helping people grow and thrive? Join Human Centric and make a real impact on organisations and their people!

Human Centric, a leading HR Consulting and Training firm located in Cyprus, is looking to hire a corporate trainer / consultant. If you are passionate about developing people, have strong communication skills, and have some team leading experience, we would love to hear from you!

The Job - Opportunity

We're on the lookout for a passionate trainer / consultant who loves inspiring people and driving workplace transformation. As a member of our team, you will be delivering soft skills training (seminars / workshops) and participate in shaping and implementing impactful HR solutions for organisations across Cyprus and beyond.

As a trainer / consultant, you will be involved in:

- Delivering training courses to attain learning objectives, mainly in the areas of corporate culture, leadership, performance improvement and business acumen
- Applying specific methods and adult learning principles, as defined by our company
- Designing new training programs & material (content)
- Supporting business development meetings
- Structuring and presenting proposals to clients
- Designing and delivering consulting solutions to clients

To succeed in the role, you will need to have:

- Formal education (Bachelor's or Master's degree)
- Minimum of 3 years professional experience in leading teams (management or supervisory roles)
- Prior experience in HR related roles and / or consulting - considered an advantage, but not absolutely necessary
- Ability to present to an audience - considered an advantage
- HRDA approved trainer status - considered an advantage
- Good command of the Greek and English languages
- You must live in Cyprus

Go further with Human Centric:

We believe in empowering our people. At Human Centric, you'll have the freedom to innovate, learn and grow in a fun and supportive environment.

We offer:

- A full-time position
- Competitive remuneration package, based on qualifications and experience
- A very friendly, supporting and pleasant work environment
- Continuous learning / development opportunities
- Flexible work hours
- Hybrid working – ability to work from home
